Pollyooly and the Lump

By Edgar Jepson

COPYRIGHT, 1910, BY THE FRANKSON PUBLISHING CO.

Then Pollyooly turned and sprang. The Prince was hardly aware of her spring; he was only aware of a stinging smack, and then the shock of her impetus toppled him over onto his back on the sand. Pollyooly came down too, but not on the sand; she came down onto the Prince, and far more heavily than her fragile air warranted. Or ever he could collect any scattered wits he may have had to have, she was sitting astride him, with a painful, grinding knee on either of his arms, and slapping his face.

The Honorable John Ruffin walked briskly down from the sea-wall with a smile of profound pleasure on his face. The perfumed Baron had not yet perceived his charge's plight. Pollyooly did not smack very hard at first, for she was restraining the writhing of the Prince; but once she had dug her toes firmly into the sand, she gave her mind to delivering each smack with the full swing of her arm; and the Prince began to bellow. Then the Baron saw the terrible, treasonable indignity the hope of the coronation of Lippe-Schweidnitz was enduring. He broke into a curious toddling run, uttering odd short shrieks of the last horror as he came.

The Honorable John Ruffin placed himself athwart the course of the toddling deliverer and said: "Don't hurry, Pollyooly; but smack him hard."

A smile of understanding wreathed Pollyooly's flushed but angel face; and she did smite harder. The Honorable John Ruffin's back was turned to the heading Baron; but his head was bent a little sideways; and as he ready breathless made his final spurring rush, he moved sharply to the left. It was unfortunate (but since he had not eyes in the back of his head, it could not be helped) that the left shoulder of the Honorable John Ruffin, jerking upwards hard, should have caught the courtesan's right shoulder of the deliverer. The Baron left the firm earth, twirled in the air in a fashion which would have won him the plaudits of the most exacting vaudeville audience, came down on his back on the sand with a violence which shook all the teeth out of his body and lay gasping in a darkened world.

It was a full two minutes before the bellowing of his sufficiently besmacked charge came again, dimly, to his comprehending ears. Then he grew aware, also dimly, that the Honorable John Ruffin was standing over him and asking loudly, with every appearance of just indignation, what he meant by not looking where he was going. The Baron was strongly of the opinion that the interposed shoulder had been no accident; but he was much too busy with his breathing to say so. Then when his breath came more easily and he had the power to say so, he had no longer the inclination, for the knowledge of the terrible position in which he stood, or rather lay, had flashed on him; he, a Prussian officer, had been knocked down by a civilian and was forever disgraced.

Pollyooly continued to smack the bellowing Prince; the Honorable John Ruffin continued to ask the Baron what the devil he meant by it; and the poor wits of the painting noblemen continued to work on his dreadful problem. Then a flash of inspiration showed him the saving solution; he could accept his noisy questioner's view that his fall had been an accident. He sat up and sulkily apologized for having been knocked down.

The hands of Pollyooly were sore from smacking Prince Adalbert, but not so sore as his royal cheeks; and still she smacked on. She interjected between the smacks requests for an assurance that he would cease to annoy the children on the beach. His fine Prussian determination not to be robbed of his state pleasures prevented him from giving it. He preferred to bellow. But there are limits even to royal endurance; and as the Baron rose shakily to his feet, the Prince howled the assurance she demanded.

"And mind you do, or I'll smack you again," said Pollyooly.

She rose to her feet, flushed and triumphant, and rubbed gently together her stinging hands. The Prince lay where he was, still bellowing.

Ten yards away Mrs. Gibson stood holding the hand of the Little Lord, and as she saw the scene in placid wonder; and she was laughing gently. Ten yards away, on her right, stood a dozen children, surveying their bellowing pest with joyful, vengeful eyes. Behind them distractedly hovered three shocked nurses, quivering with horror at the upheaval of the Social edifice.

The Baron slowly took in the humiliating significance of the scene; he saw that the glory of a royal house had been leveled to the dust, or rather to the sand. He caught his blushing charge by the arm, jerked him to his feet, and led him away by one large ear.

"I congratulate you, Pollyooly. An excellent piece of work. The haughty foreigner will trouble us no more," said the Honorable John Ruffin; and he laughed quietly and joyfully.

He was right. The royal progress the next morning was a very different matter. The Baron Von Habschewitz still performed the air as he walked; but it was no longer the air of a conquered country. His mustache was less fierce, his stride less proud. Indeed, he might easily have been mistaken for those to whom his name and dignities were unknown, for an inoffensive keeper of a delicatessen shop. Prince Adalbert of Lippe-Schweidnitz was also changed. He no longer roamed afield; he kept within six feet of his protective squires. He slouched less; and he had ceased to scowl arrogantly on the children, who no longer fled at his approach. He regarded little English girls with a respectful, not to say timid eye, and edged closer to the Baron as he passed one. To be sure, the little English girl was stored with the potentialities of a powder magazine.

An Ordinance Creating the Office of Fire Marshal, Prescribing His Powers and Duties, Amending Section 117 of Ordinance 322 of the City of Phoenix Relating to the Removal of Combustible Material Within the Limits of Said City.

The Common Council of Phoenix Do Ordain As Follows:

Section 1: The office of Fire Marshal shall be created, which office shall be held and the duties of which shall be performed by the Chief of the Fire Department of the City of Phoenix, but who shall receive no compensation therefor other than his salary as said Chief of the Fire Department.

Section 2: It shall be the duty of the Fire Marshal to attend to the enforcement of the provisions of this ordinance and of other ordinances pertaining to the protection of the city from fire.

Section 3: The Fire Marshal shall have the right to enter upon any premises at all reasonable hours for the purpose of inspecting the same. Section 4: It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to keep or cause or permit to be kept any waste, rags, paper, or other substance likely by spontaneous combustion, or otherwise, to cause fire in a receptacle made of combustible material.

Section 5: That Section 117 of Ordinance No. 322 of the City of Phoenix, entitled, "An Ordinance creating the office of Building Inspector, defining his duties and powers and regulating the manner of constructing, altering, repairing and moving of buildings in the City of Phoenix, providing for the issuance of permits for the same and for the condemnation of buildings and other structures when dangerous to property, life or limb," be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows: Within the fire limits every person, firm or corporation making, using or having charge or control of shavings, hay, sacks, bags, litter, straw, wooden boxes, wooden crates, wooden barrels, or other combustible material, waste or fragments shall not pile or place the same within twenty feet of any building or addition thereto.

Section 6: Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum of not less than Five ($5.00) Dollars nor more than One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars, or by imprisonment in the City Jail for not less than Five (5) Days nor more than One Hundred (100) Days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 7: This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication as by law required.

Passed by the Common Council of Phoenix this 1st day of April, 1912.

Approved this 1st day of April, A. D. 1912.

THE GROCERYMAN.

Most grocers make a specialty of several lines of goods. Frank Griebl the old, reliable groceryman sells teas and coffees, that have the flavor and give the best satisfaction as his specialty. He also makes a specialty of reasonable prices and the goods he sells are staple. Remember the address 218 W. Washington.

THE ROYAL ROAD TO RICHES

Lies by the savings route. Thousands who have made fortunes have died in poverty. Speculation may land a fortunate few but a thousand pitfalls lie in wait for those who trust in it as a means of enriching themselves, but not one financial wreck lies on the highway of persistent saving. The Phoenix Savings & Trust has the system. Ask about it.

THE MAN WHO SHAVES.

Will be glad to know that he can purchase a Weller safety razor, with a blade of the best razor steel, bone handled for 35 cents. Since these razors were first advertised, the pile on the counter at Boehmer's has melted away like snow before a chinook wind. The cut of the blade is not at all affected by the cut in price. It has the natural sliding stroke, the novice can shave like an expert barber.

PRETTY DISHES.

Add very materially to the beauty of the home but often it is impossible to get china that is both handsome and inexpensive. The H. G. Edwards Co. has just secured a shipment of table furnishings that appeals to the woman with the fastidious taste and the limited income. Dainty patterns banded in gold—a tea set for $1.75. Second and Adams St.

THE AMERICAN UNDERSLUNG

The car with the underslung construction, has an absolutely straight line drive. Carrying its frame underneath the axles, angularity in the propeller shaft is avoided saving from five to fifteen per cent of the power. Owing to the principle of spring suspension used, no jerks are felt except in cases of abrupt drops, and the low center of gravity prevents skidding. Standard Auto Co., 25-27 N. 2nd St.

IS YOUR TITLE CLEAR?

There is too much hard business sense about this query to make it necessary to suggest that you have us look up the title history of the land you contemplate purchasing. The man who buys without having a clear abstract is laying the foundation of a lawsuit. Have title searched by us and be sure of your interests in purchases. Arizona Abstract Co.

THESE HAYING DAYS

The farmer's thoughts turn seriously to thoughts of haying tools, and here is where the Deere Hay Loader has its innings. Hence a loader that handles well either light or heavy windrow, does not break up the hay in loading but does clean work satisfactorily. It outlasts other machines because slow driven and simply operated. Ryan Vehicle Company, Agents.

THE BANK IN BUSINESS.

The value of a high class banking connection is incalculable in a commercial sense. The business man who endeavors to conduct his business without it is ignoring one of the most valuable available assets. The young man who is unknown at the bank is a commercial stranger in the world of finance. This bank invites you to make it yours. National Bank of Arizona.

A LIVING SEED.

Have you ever planted in faith and watched hopefully the planted seed from which you expected to enjoy the fruit only to find the seed had been too long on earth before being placed under the earth? You have: most of those who garden have had similar experiences. Planting new seed from our stock will get you the desired results, try R. Hill's Seed House. Opposite postoffice.

TICKLES US BOTH.

You cannot understand until we have cleaned a suit for you by our new French process, how altogether different the work is from that you ordinarily have done at the cleaners. We never send out a piece of work that does not please us first and the customer also. This pleases us both and brings the customer back again. You would be tickled too if you tried it.

WE NEVER CLOSE.

How often the positive demands upon the druggist are delayed while the policeman awakens the clerk or phones the druggist at home and the patient suffers in the interim. We have made it possible for those who are in need to have instant drug service by night as well as day. THIS STORE NEVER CLOSES. Call us up for prescription service. Ruffin Drug Company.

AS TIFFANY IS TO GOTHAM.

So Hildebran is to Phoenix. If it's up to date jewelry, classy in glassware or up to the demands of the times in any line of silver tableware, it is always shown in the display window at Hildebran & Co's. We aim to maintain a store and stock where quality and style combine pleasantly with price. Hildebran & Co.

CARE AND QUALITY.

Shoppers who know realize the value of perfect refrigeration in maintaining the nice flavor in meats. Meat slung upon a block and sold as demanded while the piece lasts may save the meat cutter a few strips to the cooler but it destroys the quality of the meat. We make the care of our meat second only to the quality served. Hurley's Market.

Make a Republican Want Ad do the work for you—a "live wire" salesman on the job 24 hours a day.

$25,000 MORE INVESTED.

Nothing can be more encouraging to our people than to see our home institutions helping the home people. The Arizona Fire Insurance Company, during the past week, has invested over $7,000 in Tempe school bonds, and made mortgage loans on Arizona properties to the extent of $18,000. This makes about $230,000 invested by that company in the last fifteen months.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Office of Comptroller of the Currency.

Washington, March 12, 1912.

Whereas, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The Phoenix National Bank," in the City of Phoenix in the County of Maricopa and State of Arizona, has complied with all the provisions of the Act of Congress "to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence, and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882;

Now, therefore, I, Lawrence O. Murray, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that "The Phoenix National Bank" in the City of Phoenix in the County of Maricopa and State of Arizona is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association; namely, until close of business on March 12, 1932.

In testimony whereof witness my hand and Seal of office this twelfth day of March, 1912.

(SEAL)
LAWRENCE O. MURRAY,
Comptroller of the Currency.
Charter No. 4729. Extension No. 4127.

THE SUMMER SWELTER.

Is lessened very materially if the cooking is done by gas. Why worry over a wood stove, ruining your health, your complexion and your temper? When one considers the saving on the wife, gas is not only much more economical, it is absolutely essential to the happiness and well being of the household. Let the P. G. & E. put in gas for you.

ARE YOU THINKING OF GETTING FENCE?

If you are, investigate the Ellingwood fencing. Its small and permanent mesh is made by weaving one continuous wire throughout the fabric. The mesh or stay wires are so interwoven that slipping is impossible. Built for general use, in one of the six heights made, answers every purpose of a perfect fence for horses, cattle, hogs, pigs, and sheep. Sold by Talbot and Hubbard, at "The Sign of the Dog."

A NEW STORE.

That will sell excellent goods at reasonable prices and employs men for salesmen who are courteous and obliging, soon demonstrates that the old firms haven't everything grabbed. The new furniture store at 335 W. Washington St. has all of these qualifications and it is not surprising to note that it had the contract for furnishing the state capital building. The Barrows-Foster Co. also makes a specialty of packing for people who are about to move.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS

The Madame Sherry company, filling a two nights stand at the Elks' theater were quartered at the Hotel Adams last week. The register of the house contains the names of many notable of both continents, who have been numbered among its guests since the house opened.

A LEAK WITHIN A WEEK

Quite a common occurrence with hose you buy without being absolutely certain that it has not occupied a conspicuous place in the store for six months or a year. Hose wears out in a year without usage. We keep no stock of rubber hose in stock. The grade we sell will not spring a leak and soak your collar on Sunday morning. D. H. Burris.

TO THE ANTIQUARIAN

Few museums afford a greater collection of antiquities than are shown at Balke's Curio and Indian Novelty store. Many of those shown are not for sale but there are thousands of relics of aboriginal life and the handwork of the fading races is shown in pottery, bead and blanket work. Relics of the battle and the chase in all lands are here. Call, and welcome.

STOP THAT LEAK.

"Do Good" will do it and do it good. There's no treatment that will put a puncture out of business quicker and more effectively. The tire that is treated with "Do Good" seldom leaks, and never does so after the dope is applied. Ask Griswold, the bike man about it. A new line of bikes just in.

WHERE DISEASE LUR

Scientists tell us and our experience proves their assertions, that in the unsanitary milk bottle lurks ten thousand germ foes of health. The eye does not reveal but time develops their presence and grave disorders, even tuberculosis, have resulted therefrom. Hassayampa Creamery products are pasteurized and cleanliness is their most commendable feature.

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE."
Get a Victor phonograph, and you may listen to the voices of numerous masters, Sembrich, Schumann-Heink, Caruso, Tetrazzini, whose singing has thrilled thousands who have paid many dollars to listen to these night-ingles of the stage. For a few times the price of the tickets which you would purchase to hear them in a metropolitan opera house you can get a Victor, and listen to them sing as often as you choose. Miller-Sterling Co.

BREAD CONSUMPTION.
Is a question in which we are all personally interested. Some people may not know that the Phoenix Flour Mills sell a flour made of Arizona's soft wheat and the harder Kansas grain, that is unexcelled for making bread. They also have a pastry flour made from the grain grown in the Salt River Valley, that is rapidly becoming a favorite with the pie makers of this section, try a home product the next time you buy a sack of flour.

FOLLOW THE CROWD
And you will inevitably bring up at the Savoy. The reason? Oh, you'll discover that when the first picture is shown. It's the pictures and the machine used that gives the effect you at once pronounce as "so different." The best and latest subjects shown in the most perfect and pleasing manner, with no flicker that makes you blink has made the Savoy the picture house.

FOR THE FAMILY ICE-BOX
Melzer Bros. have provided for family use during the heated term a nice line of those select wines and liquors that have a place in
